Please put the date of the MICHIGAN PICNIC on your calendar now and plan to enjoy a day of reunion with your Winterset friends and former Wintersetters. Sadly, Paddens will not be able to be with us because of Pete's upcoming foot surgery. Plesters, Coxes, and Tylers will fill in for them.

THURSDAY, JULY 11

Usual time has been 10:30 a.m. Bring place settings and a dish to pass. If you have a game you would like to play, please bring it. Coffee, water and lemonade will be provided. It will be held at

Rayner Park
738 East Ash St., Mason, Michigan 48854

Let's try for a great turn-out this year.

First Day of Summer June 21st

WHAT IS THE SUMMER SOLSTICE?

In the Northern Hemisphere, the June solstice occurs when the Sun reaches both its highest and northernmost points in the sky. (In contrast, the June solstice in the Southern Hemisphere is when the Sun is at its lowest point in the sky.)

The word “solstice” comes from Latin solstitium—from sol (Sun) and stitium (standing), reflecting the fact that on the solstice, the Sun appears to stop moving in the sky as it reaches its northern- or southernmost point. After the solstice, the Sun appears to reverse course and head back in the opposite direction.

The timing of the June solstice is not based on a specific calendar date or time; it all depends on when the Sun reaches its northernmost point from the equator. Therefore, the June solstice won’t always occur on the same day.

In temperate regions, we notice that the Sun is higher in the sky throughout the day, and its rays strike Earth at a more direct angle, causing the efficient warming we call summer. Because the sun is highest in the sky on this day, you’ll notice that your shadow (at noon) is the shortest it will be all year.

In the Northern Hemisphere, the summer solstice is the day with the most hours of sunlight of the whole year.

At the winter solstice, just the opposite occurs: The Sun is at its southernmost point and is lowest in the sky. Its rays hit the Northern Hemisphere at an oblique angle, creating the feeble winter sunlight.

Busy times at Winterset RV Resort with road improvements underway and new fencing along the highway lots!!

Memorial Day Celebration

Bobbi, Marie and I had the honor of hosting the Memorial Day cookout today at Winterset. On behalf of all of us still at Winterset we would like to thank all the Service Women and Men for their sacrifices and service. The potluck/cookout was well attended 35+ and all had wonderful fellowship. The room was decorated by Marie and crew in keeping with the holiday. Note empty table for the fallen. It was wonderful. Bobbi and I did some readings honoring the day. Still hot here and our group hope all the Winterset family had a good holiday weekend.
